

MARCO DE ANDREIS

Marco De Andreis is Director of economic studies at Italy's Customs Agency. In the past he has been political advisor to Italy's Minister of European affairs, in Rome, and to a European Commissioner, in Brussels. Throughout his career, he has worked as a researcher at several think tanks in Italy, Britain, France and the U.S. and has published extensively on international security and international political economy.