Diego Latella

Diego Latella is a computer scientist. He was Contract Researcher with the University of Pisa, at the Department of Computer Science in 1984 and 1985. Form 1986 to 2000 he was Researcher with the Italian National Research Council (CNR) first at the CNUCE Institute, in Pisa (IT), and then at the Institute of Information Science and Technology ``A. Faedo'' (ISTI), in Pisa. From 2001 to 2024 he was CNR Senior Researcher at ISTI. From July 1992 to July 1993 he was Academic Visitor at the Technische Universiteit Twente, NL. In February 2011 (1st-27th) he was Visiting Professor at MT-LAB, Villum-Kann Rasmussen Excellence Center of Danmarks Tekniske Universitet (DTU) Informatics, Lyngby (Copenhagen) DK. On Sept. 1, 2024 he retired.

Diego's scientific interests fall in the area of Formal Methods for System Modelling and Model Analysis, but he has spent a substantial part of his professional and personal activity also in investigating the impact of computer technology on society, with special focus on military applications of computer science & technology, arms control, disarmament, and peace. He is a member of the Scientific Council of the Union of Scientists For Disarmament (USPID) --- of which he served as National Secretary from 2010 to 2019 ---, of the International School On Disarmament And Research On Conflicts (ISODARCO), of the Management Committee of the Laboratory of Informatics and Society of the Consorzio Interuniversitario Nazionale di Informatica, of the Scientific Committee of the IRIAD Review of the Istituto di Ricerche Internazionali Archivio Disarmo, and was one of the founders of the Interdisciplinary Group on Science, Technology and Society of the CNR Research Area in Pisa.