Guglielmo Tamburrini

Guglielmo Tamburrini, formerly full professor of Philosophy of Science and Technology (now retired) at the University of Naples Federico II in Italy, is currently Fellow at the Nexa Center for Internet & Society of Politecnico di Torino and Scientific Board member of USPID (Union of Scientists for Disarmament). Coordinator of the first European project on the ethics of robotics between 2005 and 2008, he has taught university courses on the ethics of AI since 2005. In 2014, he received the Giulio Preti International Prize for contributing to the dialogue between science, philosophy, and democracy. His public engagement activities currently focus on the militarization of digital technologies and related initiatives for disarmament and arms control.